ISO System Maintenance

Ideally speaking, organizations should have dedicated team for implementation of Qdot designed management systems. However, if company size is small and they can't afford to spend significant budget to have their own in-house team who can implement the systems, then, in this case, your organization can outsource management system implementation advisory role to Qdot consultants. Qdot will assign a dedicated consultant for your organization who will routinely visit your company and keep an eye on your organizations system implementation activities and help your team to keep things in order.

Qdot is providing annual surveillance support also to its prestigious clients. When annual surveillance audit is due, Qdot assigned consultant visit to client and help the client to conduct internal audit and management review meeting before proceeding to 3rd party independent assessment by accredited ISO certification body.
